About Me

Hello, my name is Joe Vance. I am a web UI/UX designer with experience in front-end, mobile, and application design. I am a team player that works very well under pressure in a fast paced environment. I've worn the title of senior designer, freelancer, founder, and currently, senior UI/UX designer for an NH based startup. My capabilities also include print design, marketing, branding, account and product management. I am a very driven individual that believes in hard work and taking pride in what I do.
